

The stylish art of massage: The new medisana RS 650 lounge chair has the potential to become the design classic of tomorrow

Neuss, 02.09.2019. Far too rarely do we take a little break from our stressful jobs or everyday lives. These days, many people are finding that sedentary office activities and the hectic pace of life promote tension and physical discomfort. Massages can do wonders to counteract this: they help reduce stress, relieve tension, have a positive effect on physical and mental well-being, and relieve pain. As the market leaders in the field of massage seat covers, medisana offers an extensive range of modern massagers – the right product for every application. If you would like to experience massage treatments in a particularly aesthetic and contemporary way, the new medisana RS 650 lounge chair stands for the most stylish kind of massage. Not only is it a design highlight for every living room, it also offers a variety of massage features. Users can choose from six different types of massage in the automatic programming: the effective kneading massage, the activating tapping massage, the traditional shiatsu massage, the intensive roll massage, the dynamic slapping massage and the classic Swedish massage. The RS 650 lounge chair is an extremely comfortable new massage chair which is equally as impressive for its multiple massage features as for its appealingly modern design. The variety of different settings allows users to select an intensive and individually adjustable massage for the entire back area. Users can select the zones to be massaged: for example the entire back or only the upper or lower back. Three different intensity settings guarantee that users always find the most pleasant massage strength for their needs. After 15 minutes, the massage function switches off automatically. Conveniently, the lounge chair has its own built-in USB charging port for state-of-the-art massage comfort.

The medisana RS 650 lounge chair is expected to be available for the price of € 1,399.95 RRP in specialist retail stores and at www.medisana.de from September 2019.
